Working with Feed My Starving Children

More than 7,000 children die from malnutrition every day. Feed My Starving Children is a nonprofit built around one idea: For these kids, hope starts with food.

Volunteers hand-pack meals specially formulated for malnourished children. Then the organization sends them to community-building partners in 70 countries around the world. When you work with School Tool Box, you'll fund one meal for every supply box school parents buy.

Schools like yours have helped us fund almost one million meals so far. But we're just getting started.
